

This Week In Congress

January 5, 2004

Dear Friend,

Welcome to "This Week in Congress." I hope you find this newsletter useful.

Visiting with Kansans Across the State

During the past three weeks, I have been visiting Kansas communities as part of my annual "Big First" Listening Tour. So far, I have visited with folks in 18 communities. I appreciate that people took time out of their busy holiday schedules to meet with me.

I will continue the tour this week by visiting Ashland, Kinsley, Osborne, Beloit, Burr Oak, Kensington, Greensburg, Coldwater, Medicine Lodge, Pratt, Hays, Oakley, Colby, Goodland and St. Francis. I look forward to visiting you when I am in your county.

Celebrating the Holiday Season

In addition to the tour, I spent the week with friends and family celebrating the holiday season. My family and I have much to be thankful for, and it is my hope that everyone had an enjoyable holiday season with neighbors and loved ones.

Cheering On the Kansas State Wildcats

This past weekend, I also joined Governor Kathleen Sebelius, Senator Pat Roberts and 20,000 other Kansas State fans to cheer on the Wildcats against the Ohio State Buckeyes in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl football game. Though they were on the losing end, I commend the team for their efforts and wish Coach Bill Snyder and the team success in 2004.

In the Office

In for a tour of the Capitol were Eric and Amy Hoch Altwegg of Abilene, and Wesley and Shirley Hoch of Logan. Also in the office this week was Clark and Barbara Harris of Tribune.

Very truly yours,

Jerry
